Said Wright, "People have pets which are considered a part of their family, and this service will enable the Township to post photographs of lost pets in order to assist in their recovery."

Detroit Metro Airport Opens New, Expanded Cell Phone Waiting Lot for North End

Motorists picking-up an arriving passenger at Detroit Metro Airport's Smith Terminal now have a new, expanded cell phone waiting area. The new, 37-space lot replaces the current waiting area along the curb of Rogell Drive, as that roadway will be rerouted as part of the next phase of development for the airport's new North Terminal.

Cell phone waiting lots, which have become popular at airports across the country, were first introduced at Detroit Metro Airport in 2006. These waiting areas help alleviate vehicle congestion at the arrivals curb by providing a safe and free spot for motorists to await a call from their arriving parties, indicating that they are at the curb with their luggage and ready for pickup.

The cell phone lot also reduces the need for motorists to circle airport roadways while waiting for passengers who may arrive at the curbside later than expected.

"Our cell phone waiting areas have been very popular since day one," said Wayne County Airport Authority CEO Lester Robinson. "Especially given heightened security, which causes our airport police to be ever more vigilant in keeping traffic moving at the curb front, this new cell phone lot will give even more motorists a better option than circling airport roadways."

The new cell phone waiting lot is located adjacent to the on-airport rental car facilities off East Service Drive near the intersection with Lucas Drive. To access the new lot, drivers approaching the airport from I-94 should follow signs to 'Rental Car Return,' exiting at Middlebelt Road (exit 199) and then turning right onto Lucas Drive. Follow Lucas Drive until it ends at East Service Drive and turn left; the lot entrance will then be on the right.

Those approaching the airport from the south (I-275/Eureka Road), or who have already made one pass at the arrivals curb, should proceed north through the airport on Dingell Drive and follow signs to 'Rental Car Return' and 'North Cell Phone Lot.'

The cell phone waiting lot is in an area that causes no security concerns, according to the WCAA; however, motorists must remain in their vehicles. Unattended vehicles may be ticketed and towed.

"We still recommend that the best way to meet an arriving passenger is to park in a short-term lot and meet your party in the bag claim," said Robinson. "However, many people simply drive out to the airport and try to sit at the arrivals curb at the time the flight is due to arrive."

Robinson added, "The new north cell phone waiting lot will not only accommodate more customers, but its location also provides a convenient waiting area for motorists who are approaching the airport from I-94 and who are meeting arriving passengers at any of the airport's three terminals." □

Family Thanks Romulus Firefighters, Neighbors

To the Editor:

On Saturday, September 22, 2007, my dad's life was turned upside down. His garage and home caught fire.

Many memories were lost that night, but more could have been if it were not for the quick response of the Romulus Fire Department. My family and I want to express our personal thanks to all the firefighters who were there to save the majority of the house and its contents.

Special thanks to Pete Bergeron and Captain "Dusty" Sperry, who were the first firefighters to respond to the scene, and to Neil Allgood, who took the time, after the fire was out, to explain everything to my family and answer all our questions.

Thanks, too, to Deputy Chief Phil Wagner for his kind words and help, which were comforting to my family.

We would also like to thank all the other firefighters and EMS personnel who were on the scene, but whose names we do not know. Many of us take firefighters for granted. They have a dangerous job, and we feel that they do not receive the recognition they truly deserve. Thank you to each one of you who were there that night.

Finally, I want to take this opportunity to thank the neighbors for all the support and help you have given to my dad and our family during this time. It will be a long recovery process, and we could not do it without all of you.

Sincerely,

Kim Lawrence (on behalf of the Polianchick family)

Thanks ... from One Dispatcher to Another

To the Editor:

I am a dispatcher for Sumpter Township. I have worked for Sumpter and Central Dispatch Network since 2002. I always knew that I had a huge responsibility on my shoulders. There have been many nights that I have gone home wondering if I got a particular person help on time, or just how he/she was doing. That crying relative on the other end of the phone can really touch your heart.

On Sunday, September 2, I was that crying relative. I dialed 9-1-1 from my Huron Township residence and (since Sumpter and Huron are neighboring communities) reached a dispatcher I knew: Karen Stackpoole.

I said, "Karen, my husband is having chest pain and difficulty breathing." She told me she would send rescue. Her calm, reassuring voice helped me so much.

Karen went above and beyond the call of duty. She also called my daughter, who was working dispatch in Sumpter, and kept her abreast of events until her relief arrived. She told her when rescue was out and what hospital we were going to. Sometime in between, she called me back to see if I was doing okay. She was a godsend to my family.

I will never forget Karen's warm, calm, caring voice on the other end of that phone. I only hope that I, as a dispatcher, leave that impression on people who call me.

The fire and rescue people who helped us were great, as well. They were prompt, professional, and very helpful. But it was that first voice on the phone that helped me stay calm through everything – my husband's transportation to Heritage Hospital, his diagnosis of 100% blockage in his right coronary artery, and his transfer to Oakwood main via critical care ambulance, during which he was prepped for a stent implant.

I will always remember and be eternally grateful to Karen Stackpoole, who came to my family's aid and also gave me a new insight into my job. She was the voice of an angel on the other end of that 9-1-1 call.

Sincerely,

Sue DuFresne □

A Balanced Budget Requires a BALANCED Solution

By State Senator Ray Basham
(D-Taylor), 8th District

After months of intense budget negotiations and just under five hours into a partial government shutdown, the state legislature voted early Monday morning for a comprehensive plan to prevent massive cuts to health care, education, and public safety, and allow all state services to resume. In the face of Michigan's worst fiscal crisis in a generation, my colleagues and I had to choose between increasing revenues as a means of investing in our economic revitalization or making devastating cuts to the state programs that families like yours rely on.

For nearly eight months, Senate Democrats have fought for a comprehensive solution to our budget crisis. Because of the magnitude of our deficit, it was clear that the solution would require a mix of difficult cuts, significant government reforms, and new revenues, and the balanced plan that finally came to fruition this week achieves just that without using the onetime fixes we have relied on in the past.

The Legislature is expected to enact nearly $440 million in budget cuts for fiscal year 2008 as part of the bipartisan budget plan reached this week. While this agreement prevents massive cuts to essential services that would've been threatened by a "cuts-only" solution, we still face tough choices about the budget, as these cuts will be identified in the coming weeks. None of these cuts will be easy, but these desperate times demand drastic measures.

In addition to adjusting what the state pays for, we legislators have also agreed to government reforms that will refine how the State of Michigan spends its money. These include an end to public employee double-dipping on state pensions and payrolls, and requiring all schools in an intermediate school district to adopt a common calendar. These reforms will also create incentives for healthy behavior for Medicaid recipients and lower co-pays for people who quit smoking and stay in shape. Additionally, the Legislature created a Government Efficiency Committee to identify additional reforms.

The final component of a solution to our state budget crisis is the raising of new revenue. We faced a devastating deficit that we couldn't meet with cuts and reforms alone. The final budget deal included a restoration of the state's personal income tax rate to 4.35 percent, slightly lower than the rate for most of the 1990s. It also expanded the state's sales tax to a number of high-end discretionary services like interior design, landscaping, and personal care services such as massages and manicures. The combination of taxes is expected to cost the average person approximately $1 per week.

During these trying economic times, it was a difficult decision to make to increase revenues for the state. I realize how many families throughout the state are struggling right now, which is why we worked to minimize the impact this budget solution would have on taxpayers. But while nobody likes to see their taxes increase, nobody likes the idea of unpatrolled neighborhoods, empty firehouses, or overcrowded and understaffed schools and hospitals, either. We acted on the courage of our convictions and the need to find a solution to

Located at 33200 Ecorse Road, between Wayne and Merriman roads, Living Rock is a nondenominational church that welcomes everyone for Sunday Bible study (10 a.m.) and services (11 a.m. and 6 p.m.), as well as other classes and events. Taylor Leads Michigan in Utilizing New Road Reconstruction Technology

Mayor Cameron Priebe (eighth from right) was joined by officials from the City of Taylor, Wayne County, and the State of Michigan for the launch of the first asphalt reclamation road resurfacing project in Michigan.

Mayor Cameron Priebe and City of Taylor officials say they're proud, once again, to be at the forefront of innovation – this time in regard to new technology that was used for the recent Pardee Road reconstruction project.

The technology, called "Full Depth Reclamation Using Foamed Asphalt," has been utilized in 35 states. It was introduced for the first time in Michigan when Taylor used it to reconstruct Pardee north of Ecorse Road to Beverly.

Members of the public and officials from Wayne County and the State of Michigan attended the kickoff demonstration of the road resurfacing project on September 10.

Renee Pipis of RCP Associates, working with project contractor Ten Mile Creek Excavation, said the process uses a reclamation technology that is able to penetrate deep into the foundation of the existing road, recycle the materials that are already there, and mix in additional materials (such as aggregate, stone, or concrete) as needed. The result is a very smooth reconstruction of the road.

Mayor Priebe said the process meets the City of Taylor's commitment to climate protection through the reuse of materials.

"We are very pleased that Mayor Cameron Priebe and City of Taylor officials have the foresight to utilize an innovative technology that produces a high quality road, using recycled materials, at about half the cost of traditional roads," said Pipis. "It is a cost-saving and effective process." □

Drunk-driving Crash Survivor Is Proof of the Power of Good ... and Bad ... Choices

As a two-time member of the National Junior College Athletic Association women's volleyball All-America team, Sarah Panzau knew what it was like to be on top of her game – and on top of the world.

But, somewhere between life as a competitively driven high-school athlete and the early years of college, Panzau began heading down a destructive path. She was trapped in a pattern of making poor choices that would, one day, catch up with her.

That day was August 23, 2003, when Panzau's car – and her life – spun out of control. With a blood-alcohol level nearly four times the legal limit, the 21-year-old decided to drive home drunk, missed a highway exit, and rolled her car four times. Without a seat belt, she was ejected through the rear window of her car, her left arm was torn from her body, and she was thrown onto the roadway.

Ironically, the second vehicle that arrived at the accident scene was an ambulance. After observing the scene and Panzau's seemingly lifeless body with no pulse, members of the emergency team prepared to pronounce her dead. Just before they made the call, Panzau offered a last sign of life: she gasped for air. The trauma team stabilized her, and she was airlifted to a hospital, where she underwent eight and a half hours of emergency surgery.

Panzau was lucky; she survived. But her life was forever changed by the physical and emotional pain caused by the poor decisions she made.

Today, Panzau hopes to help other young people avoid making similar mistakes by sharing her story via presentations like the one she'll be giving at Romulus High School on Tuesday, October 9. The presentation – sponsored by Central Distributors (the Anheuser-Busch wholesaler in Romulus) – will focus on making smart choices, respecting parents, and rising above disabilities.

Bill Ventola, Coordinator of Consumer Awareness and Education at Central Distributors, said his company is proud to support presentations like Panzau's.

"Sarah's powerful and moving message is one of the more effective tools in our ongoing efforts to promote the responsible use of alcohol and zero tolerance of underage drinking," he said. □

AAA Michigan Offers Free Car Checks

Michigan motorists can't avoid winter – it's right around the corner – but they can act now to help ease its effects on their vehicles with a free Winter Car Care maintenance inspection at participating AAA Approved Auto Repair (AAR) facilities statewide.

The inspections – which will run through the month of October – are part of the Auto Club's 2007 Winter Car Care program, now in its 28th year. This is a free public service for all Michigan motorists; AAA membership is not required.

Components inspected by the AAR facilities include battery load and terminals, antifreeze, oil, brake fluid, power-steering fluid, and transmission fluids, belts, hoses, tires, and wiper blades.

The most common deficiencies noted by AAR technicians include old or corroded batteries, worn or damaged wiper blades, clogged air filters, tire pressure and wear, low windshield washer fluid, dirty or low motor oil, and low antifreeze levels. In Michigan, faulty batteries and/or faulty terminal connections cause more car-starting problems than any other factor. Cold weather is brutal on a battery. As the temperature drops, so does the battery's cranking power, so motorists should closely monitor the condition of their vehicle's battery, especially if it's more than two years old.

To find the AAR facility nearest you, please call 1-800-AAA-MICH or visit AAA.com/carcaretips. □ serve the interests of the entire state. It is important that we all take responsibility for resolving this budget situation. State government, the business community, and families are all personally invested in Michigan's future, and we should be willing to financially invest in the future of our state as well.

Although this is not a cause for celebration, the budget agreement does put the state on solid financial footing.
